How does it work?

A Central Unit controls the telephone lines disabling the outgoing calls that have no credit.

When the user acquires the credit the vending machine prints a ticket with a password generated by the Central Unit.

The user can carry out outgoing calls during the acquired time by dialling the password before the phone number from any phone set within the installation.

Cover printed in laminated water and UV resistant vinyl film customizable for each application

All the components of the ticket vending machine are vandal proof
